

Summer Writing Wowzers

Dive into summer with these seasonal creative writing ideas:

Summer is here! I can't wait to...

It was the hottest day in history. Describe the experience.

One hot summer day I was walking on the beach, when I discovered a bottle with a map inside.

Congratulations! You have just made the biggest sand castle in the world. Write a paragraph describing your sandy creation.

Dolphins to the rescue! Write a story about how two dolphins save a swimmer.

Going camping in the mountains would be fun because...

It's the camping trip you'll never forget! Unscramble and use these words in your story: nira, veca, rabe & sebe.

Let me tell you about the day I caught the biggest fish in the lake!

Be a detective! A valuable seashell has disappeared from the Seaside Museum. Write a crime report telling how you solved the mystery.

by Mary Ellen Switzer

-  Write a diary entry about your adventures on an African safari.
-  Happy Birthday, USA! If you were asked to plan a Fourth of July picnic for your community, where would the holiday event be held? Write a list of special events you would have.
-  One summer day I decided to enter a watermelon-eating contest. Little did I know...
-  Make up a brand new ice-cream flavor. Write an advertisement to tell everyone about this exciting flavor.
-  Write a story about a monkey who loves ice-cream cones.
-  Sports! Sports! Sports! What summer sport is your favorite? Write a paragraph telling why this sport is the best. Draw a picture for a billboard to "advertise" your favorite sport.
-  Surprise! You find a giant chocolate bunny in your yard. Draw a picture of the bunny and write a list of six adjectives to describe it.
-  Extra! Extra! Write a news story about the day it rained jelly beans.
-  Sunny skies, spring showers - what will the weather be like today? Write a weather news television script featuring today's forecast for your community. Check the weather news section in your local newspaper or the internet for the latest information.

