NASA Is Sending
These Poems to Mars

Thirty-six million miles of whispering welcome.
Mars, you called us home.
–Vanna Bonta, USA

distant red planet
down, the dreams of earth beings flow
we will someday roam
-Greg Pruett
Idaho, USA

Mars, your secret is unknown for humanity
we want to know you.
-Fanni Redenczki
Hungary

I am the petrel
Exploring ancient shorelines,
Of long-dry oceans.
-Earl Frederick
Virginia, USA

MAVEN tastes the air
too thin to hold oceans’ broth wafted on Sol’s winds.
-James Ph. Kotsybar
California, USA
