I can describe and categorize using properties of matter.

I can measure properties of matter using appropriate tools.

I can compare states of matter.

I can tell the difference between solids, liquids, and gases.