

HIGH SCHOOL | BLUE VALLEY DISTRICT NOVEL RATIONALE

The Importance of Being Earnest* by Oscar Wilde

English Language Arts, 12th Grade

WHAT'S THE STORY?

Jack Worthing, the play's protagonist, is an upstanding member of the community in Hertfordshire, where he is guardian to Cecily Cardew, the pretty, eighteen-year-old granddaughter of the late Thomas Cardew, who found and adopted Jack when he was a baby. In Hertfordshire, Jack is a major landowner, with tenants, farmers, and a number of servants and other employees dependent on him. For years, he has also pretended to have an irresponsible black-sheep brother named Ernest who leads a scandalous life in pursuit of pleasure and is always getting into trouble of a sort that requires Jack to rush grimly off to his assistance. In fact, Ernest is merely Jack's alibi, an alter ego that allows him to disappear for days at a time and do as he likes. No one but Jack knows that he himself is Ernest. Ernest is the name Jack goes by in London, which is where he really goes on these occasions—probably to pursue the very sort of behavior he pretends to disapprove of in his imaginary brother.
